Hello Everyone

As we welcome the crisp embrace of October, Rudston transforms into a haven of autumnal beauty and charm. The leaves begin their graceful descent, painting the landscape in hues of gold and crimson, and there's a palpable sense of anticipation in the air. This month, let's embrace the unique spirit of Rudston in the fall, finding inspiration in its traditions, its natural wonders and the warmth of our close-knit community.

October is the time for harvest festivals and Friday 6th October at 6.30pm is Harvest Festival at All Saints Church. It's a season of abundance, a time when we gather the fruits of our labour and share in the bounties of the land. Let's come together as a community to celebrate our local farmers, the backbone of our village.

As the days grow shorter, our homes become havens of warmth and cosiness. It's the perfect time to indulge in hearty soups, pumpkin-spiced treats and crackling fires.

Let's cherish these moments with our loved ones, whether it's sharing stories by the fireplace or bundling up for a scenic walk through our enchanting woodlands.

Above all, it's our tight-knit community that defines Rudston. As we gather for local events, share smiles and laughter at the village hall and pub, and offer a helping hand to our neighbours, we're reminded that Rudston is more than just a place - it's a warm and welcoming family. Please join everyone at the Bosville Arms on Saturday 21st to support the fund-raising for Breast Cancer Wear It Pink. There will be a tombola, raffle, tea, coffee and cake.

Here's to a wonderful October in Rudston, where nature's artistry and community spirit intertwine, reminding us of the joys of this season.

Warm regards,

Heather, Becky & Paula

RUDSTON NEWS AND EVENTS

RUDSTON VILLAGE HALL

Thursday 7th September saw a very busy bingo night. We had to get more tables and chairs out! Thank you to everyone for coming and supporting the event. Thank you as always to the committee and helpers for continuing to donate their time and refreshments, the event wouldn't run without you all.

Next bingo night is:-

THURSDAY 5th OCTOBER - Eyes down 7pm.

A BIG THANK YOU goes to HARRIET for running the current Rudston Rascals, along with her helpers and to the Mothers and Toddlers who supported it.

Unfortunately, the Rudston Rascals has now finished. The toddler group has been going for many years and has been run on the same morning as the post office and the coffee shop. We are looking for new ideas to fill the gap and help support the coffee shop.

One idea is a selling table which is offered for free. You would have to be there during the coffee shop times and would have to man your own stall with the opportunity to sell to the Coffee Shop and Post Office customers. If anyone is interested, please get in touch via the Rudston Facebook page, contact someone at the Coffee shop or leave a note in the letter box outside the Village Hall.

We are hoping to start up the Teacake Tuesday activities again this winter and we are looking for volunteers. It may not be on a Tuesday but could be run alongside the Coffee Shop on a Thursday. The role will involve setting up the equipment (Curling, Archery, Magazines etc) and encouraging people to take part and/or help serve refreshments. Please get in touch if you can help.

Rudston Christmas Craft Fair

Sunday 5th November

10am - 3pm

A range of quality craft stalls

Refreshments available

If anyone is interested in booking a stall for the Craft Fair, please contact Martin 01262 420 171 or go on the Rudston Facebook page.

This year for a bit of fun, near Christmas, we are planning a Snowman Trail. Make a Snowman out of anything, to either stand outside your house or even in your window. Just make sure it can be seen. Let us know where you live and this will go on a map and then people can go round the village looking at them all - like when we did the decorated windows.

Please put your Snowman on show by Saturday 9th December. The trail starts at 3pm. Hopefully lots of Christmas lights will also be on show to guide you round the village. The Village Hall will be open to collect a map, where you can also get a drink, mince pies and sweets.

Let's get the village in the festive spirit. Look out for more information on the events on posters, Facebook, Village Hall Board.

RUDSTON PARISH COUNCIL

The Village Sign has now been finished and is in situ, and the new gate at the far end of East Gate has been fitted.

Dates for Parish Council meetings:

- 11 October
- 29 November

ALL SAINTS CHURCH, RUDSTON, SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Everyone is welcome to come to the Harvest Festival on Friday 6th October at 6.30pm in All Saints Church to celebrate a successful harvest of the land and sea. This will be followed by supper of fruit pies, spice bread and tea or coffee in Church. We hope to see many of you there. The Church will be suitably decorated for this annual celebration.

At the time of writing the Organ Concert is imminent so I hope many of you enjoyed it by the time you read this. All funds raised at this event are for the running and repairs of the Organ and we are grateful to John Walker for organising the concert and to Stephen Parker for playing the organ. It is appropriate to give thanks for the long life of Dick Robinson who for many years took great pride in playing the organ at Rudston Church and who contributed in many ways to the community in Rudston. He will be sadly missed.

Village Map

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you who made this map possible with your kind donations. The "Driffield Wolds Weekly" photographer was present at its unveiling on 1st August but only managed to get the photo in this week's issue. It just shows how popular this paper is when covering local issues and events.

I hope you like the finished map and believe Sandra Hood (the artist) has made an excellent job. My apologies to those who pointed out one or two embarrassing errors, so special thanks to my daughter Pippa who so ably rectified these and saved the day!

RUDSTON YOUTH CLUB

Welcome to our new members!

At our last meeting, we had a fantastic planning session with the children. We believe that their input is crucial in shaping what we do, so we asked them what activities they would like to see, what interests them, and what they want to do in the coming months.

A wide range of ideas & suggestions were put forward, which included sports, art, music & cooking activities. The children are keen to get involved with community events the first being the "Wear it Pink" fundraising event being held at the Bosville Arms on Saturday 21st October. We are busy collecting tombola and raffle prizes from family & friends for the event & can't wait to support it.

To finish the evening off the kids made mocktails, there were some colourful creations with the children enjoying mixing their concoctions & tasting.

Next month, we have a special adventure planned ... we are delighted to announce that we have been fortunate enough to organise a trip to the Bell Tower at All Saints Church. The children will have the chance to explore the history & significance of the village church whilst having fun. We wish to extend our thanks to those who have made this possible.

If you think you can help or would like to get involved, then please do call Fiona 07762 901 193 or Anita 07764 377 698.

Our next meeting is Tuesday 10th October at the Village Hall, 6.30-8pm, all children welcome.

RUDSTON BOWLS CLUB

The September meeting was enjoyed by all as it was a tasting quiz organised by Anne Mitchell who also gave a report on this year's National Annual Meeting held in Cardiff.

Also, committee members and officers for the year will be voted in at this meeting. Judging of the sunflower competition will also take place.

The November meeting is on Tuesday 7th (at a time to be decided), when an author with the pseudonym Harry Giller will tell us about his time in the Police Force and how he came to write his books. Any guests are welcome to come along. We now only have 10 paid up members and it would be nice to have a larger audience for our speakers.

RUDSTON VILLAGE BINGO

Wow, what a year - this has been our best ever! After covering the running costs and paying out all the winnings, the bingo has raised a fantastic £1200 for the Playing Field.

I know I say this every year, but it would not be possible without the continued support of everyone who plays as well as the people who give their time every week in all weathers to deliver the tickets and collect any subs . Thank you to all of you.

Whilst it may not seem very exciting or appealing to some people, the village bingo has raised a lot of money for the benefit of everyone who lives in the village over the 40+ years that it's been running . And with a jackpot of £40 per game to be shared between all the winners, you're not going to be able to retire on your winnings.

But having said that, the value of the monies raised for whichever group receives the yearly profits is far greater. Knowing that additional monies are going to be paid to a group, be it the playing field, the village hall or even the newsletter, takes away some of the financial pressure that every group feels in trying to keep all the various facilities running, especially in the current financial situation.

Unfortunately it's not possible for me to call at everyone's door to ask if you would like to support the bingo, but if you're reading this and thinking you would like to support the village in this way, then please give me a call on 420708.

It only costs 10p per book per week to play village bingo (maximum 10 books - £1 per week) and in return we'll deliver a ticket to you every week, either in paper form, or by email if you prefer. Most games are won on week 4, although sometimes it can just be week 3. As well as the £40 jackpot, there is also the opportunity of winning £50 if you have the first 5 numbers on one book - known as the snowball numbers.

All you have to do is tick your numbers off - if you get a full house, or even better, all the snowball numbers, you just need to post your winning ticket at the address given on the slip and wait to see what you win. It's a little bit of fun that does a lot of good for Rudston.

Many thanks
Paula Beresford

RUDSTON HISTORY

The Rudston Monolith: A Standing Testament to Ancient Mysteries

The Rudston Monolith, a towering stone sentinel standing amidst the picturesque landscape of the East Riding of Yorkshire, England, is a mysterious and enigmatic monument that has intrigued and fascinated archaeologists, historians, and curious visitors for centuries. This massive, upright stone, known locally as the Rudston Monolith or the Rudston Stone, is one of the largest megaliths in the British Isles, and its origins and purpose have been the subject of much speculation and research.

Physical Characteristics: The Rudston Monolith stands at an impressive 7.6 meters (about 25 feet) in height, making it taller than any other standing stone in Britain. It is composed of a type of sandstone known as Moor Grit, which is not indigenous to the immediate area. This fact alone has sparked questions about how and why this massive stone was transported and erected at this specific location.

Historical Context: Dating the Rudston Monolith has proven to be a challenging task, as it lacks any inscriptions or markings that could provide clues about its age or purpose. However, based on archaeological evidence and comparative studies, it is generally believed to date back to the Late Neolithic or Early Bronze Age, approximately 2000-1600 BCE. During this period, megalithic structures and standing stones were erected across Western Europe for various religious, ritualistic, and communal purposes.

Theories on Purpose:

Religious Significance: Many researchers and historians speculate that the Rudston Monolith served a religious or ceremonial purpose. Its towering .

presence could have been intended to represent a connection between the heavens and the earth, and it might have been a focal point for ancient rituals or gatherings

Astronomical Alignment: Some theories suggest that the monolith could have been aligned with celestial events, such as solstices or equinoxes, which were of great importance in many ancient cultures. Alignments with celestial events might have been used to mark specific dates or agricultural seasons.

Boundary Marker: In some cases, megaliths like the Rudston Monolith were placed as boundary markers to delineate territory or to mark important routes. Given its size, it would have been an imposing marker, visible from a considerable distance.

Cultural Symbolism: The stone's unique location and size might also have made it a symbol of power or significance for the ancient communities in the region. It could have represented the authority or prestige of a particular group or individual.

Transport and Construction: One of the most intriguing aspects of the Rudston Monolith is how it was transported and erected. Moor Grit, the stone from which it is made, is not found in the immediate vicinity of Rudston, which means that it had to be transported from a considerable distance. The method of transportation and the tools used in its construction remain subjects of debate and investigation. Some researchers believe that a combination of rollers, sledges, and manpower was likely employed in the monolith's transportation, while others speculate about the possible use of waterways for part of the journey.

Preservation and Significance: Despite its antiquity, the Rudston Monolith stands remarkably well-preserved and has become an important cultural and historical landmark in the East Riding of Yorkshire. It is protected as a scheduled ancient monument, and the area surrounding it has been designated as a conservation zone to ensure its continued preservation.

Visitor Experience: Today, the Rudston Monolith attracts tourists, history enthusiasts, and curious visitors from around the world. The site offers a unique opportunity to stand in the presence of an ancient marvel and ponder the mysteries of our distant past. Surrounding the monolith is the beautiful All Saints' Church, which is built from the same Moor Grit stone and further adds to the sense of historical significance in the area.

In conclusion, the Rudston Monolith stands as a testament to the ingenuity, determination, and spiritual beliefs of our ancient ancestors. While its exact purpose remains shrouded in mystery, its presence continues to evoke a sense of wonder and curiosity. This towering stone sentinel serves as a tangible link to a time long past, inviting us to contemplate the enduring mysteries of our human history and the secrets that lie buried beneath the East Riding landscape.

- Add the roasted pumpkin flesh, ground cinnamon, ground nutmeg, salt & pepper to the pot. Stir to combine the ingredients.
- Pour in the vegetable or chicken broth and bring the mixture to a boil. Reduce the heat and simmer for about 20-30 minutes, allowing the flavours to blend together.
- Use an blender to puree the soup until smooth.
- If desired, stir in the heavy cream to make the soup extra creamy and rich. Adjust the seasoning to taste.
- Serve the pumpkin soup hot, garnished with pumpkin seeds and fresh parsley. You can also drizzle a little extra cream on top for added decadence.
