Hello Everyone

June marks the 80th anniversary of the D-Day Landings - as you would expect Rudston will be celebrating this special occasion in style! The Bosville Arms will be stepping back in time on Thursday 6th June providing us with war time food & drink and 1940s music. At 9.15pm we remember all the brave men who fought for their country and the Lamp Light of Peace will be lit together with the Last Post followed by 2 minutes silence. Please come down to commemorate this significant and memorable day.

Between the 13th to 27th July is "Blooming Rudston"; we're being encouraged to celebrate the summer with hanging baskets, tubs and window boxes in our front gardens, so now is the time to nip out to our lovely local nurseries and stock up on plants to brighten up the Village. Everyone can take part and vote for your favourite garden plus it's a great excuse for a walk round the Village.

We always welcome feedback on our newsletter! The team would love to hear what you enjoy, what topics you'd like to read more about or any new ideas you have for future issues. Please share your thoughts with us 😊.

ALL SAINTS CHURCH, RUDSTON, SOCIAL COMMITTEE

After inspection of the organ, it has been discovered that certain parts need attention or renewal. The estimated cost of this is £17,000 including VAT. It has been decided to apply for grants where possible to fund this huge amount to bring the organ back to its excellent condition so it can continue to serve the community for years to come. We will need to have a number of special events to be able to fund the repairs and we're delighted to say we have two arranged – one in June and the other in July.

RUDSTON W.I.

On Tuesday 7th May members and 1 guest met in Rudston Village Hall at 7pm and enjoyed a talk and power point presentation by Gill Cowlam who is on the Federation Board of Trustees. She told us about her career as an engineer having studied sciences and maths at A level then degree level at Manchester University. She has worked on the gas platforms in the North Sea and then worked for BP in the massive oil fields of Georgia and Azerbaijan until 2015.

June Sellers gave the vote of thanks. The competition - a wall plate - was won by Hazel Conner, 2nd Margaret Reed and 3rd Clare Sutton. Betty Wells won the raffle.

Members went for lunch at the Pot Still Coffee Shop at the Spirit of Yorkshire, Hunmanby, on Tuesday 21st May.

June Sellers gave a report on the Federation AGM. held at the Mercure Hotel in Willerby on 21st April. Rudston WI received a Certificate of Congratulations for being 95 years old this year. The morning speaker was Janet O'Toole who is Head of Youth and Community Services for the Moorlands Community Charity of "Old Goole" and spoke about empowerment for Women and Girls in that area.

After lunch David Harper of antique fame was the speaker and talked about how the British Empire was responsible for various inventions and traditions. He was a very entertaining speaker.

Members were reminded that the next WI meeting is on Tuesday 11th June when members will have lunch at the Stove Cafe at the Cranswick Garden Centre at 11.45 am (leaving Rudston at 11.15 am) followed by a visit to Top Hill Low Nature Reserve.

June Sellers will be attending the National Annual Meeting at the Royal Albert Hall in London on 4th June and members decided to ask her to vote on the resolution:

"DENTAL HEALTH MATTERS"

There is a chronic shortage of NHS Dentists and people are suffering health issues as a result. The NFWI calls on Government to increase investment in training and retention of dentists and to review the current inadequate NHS contracts in order to ensure everyone can access an NHS dentist wherever they live.

Unanimously all members wanted her to vote in favour of this resolution.

Everyone had enjoyed their lunch at the Courtyard Cafe at Sledmere followed by a look round the fantastic Photograph Exhibition of Countryside and Wildlife. This has now been extended until the end of the Summer Season. It's free and well worth a visit.

Visitors are always welcome at our meetings at a charge of £3. Please contact Hazel Conner 01262 420 470 or June Sellers 01262 420 237 for further information.

RUDSTON YOUTH CLUB

Our AGM was held on the 14th of May at the Village Hall, with Fiona Turner (Chair), Nicola Knaggs (Secretary) and Anita Marven (Treasurer) in attendance. A heartfelt thank you goes out to Trisha Owen for her kind note of appreciation to the Committee and volunteers for their hard work and dedication in running the Youth Club for the children in our community.

Our most recent meeting has been described by many of the children as "the best Youth Club ever"! The raft building evening was a tremendous success, with enthusiastic participation from all the children and a few extra attendees. The children were divided into two teams and tasked with designing, building and testing their rafts using the materials provided. The final test of their creations' floating abilities took place on the Gypsy Race.

It was a fantastic evening filled with excitement as the children took turns riding the Gypsy Race in their rafts, you may have heard the laughs & screams around the Village. Although there were some wet feet, the children embraced the experience with great enthusiasm. It was wonderful to see so many parents joining us for the activity and cheering from the sidelines.

Our next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday 11th June, at the Village Hall, from 6:30pm to 8:00pm. We look forward to another evening of fun and games.

RUDSTON PLAYING FIELD

The Playing Field AGM will be held on 10th June at 7pm in the pavilion. The playing field is a huge asset to the village and is managed by a committee on behalf of the parish council.

If you are interested in the playing field and its future please come along to the meeting. The committee wants to hear how residents would like to use the field in the future.

AT THE BOSVILLE ARMS

1940s Day – All Day

Come down to the pub and step back in time to the 1940s. Sample some war time food made with authentic rationed ingredients. Dress up and win a prize for the best fancy dress.

1940s music all day.
Have a pint of Black & Tan
or a Babycham.

Don't forget the more serious part of the day - remembering the brave men who fought for their country at 9.15pm, when the Lamp Light of Peace will be lit all across the country at this time. Glyn, our village vicar, will be lighting ours and Dave Arundel will be playing the Last Post on the bugle followed by a 2 minute silence. Free hot drinks for the lamp lighting.

We hope you will all join us to mark this important historical event.

The following article is by a lady who wanted to pass on her memories of the Second World War to her great grandchildren. As far as we could, we have kept the memories as they have been written.

WARTIME MEMORIES (Part 1) by Doris Sugden

My name is Doris Elizabeth Sugden. I was born on August 13th 1910 at 13 Gladstone Terrace, Morley, Nr Leeds in the West Riding of Yorkshire. My father was a woollen manufacturer and during the first world war he made blankets and other things for the Army. He had two brothers, Herbert and Arthur, they were all in the partnership. My father and Herbert were too old to go into the Army but Arthur was called up. He came home safely at the end of the war.

When my father retired we moved to Bridlington. The house we lived in was 68 Cardigan Road, next door to Emmanuel Church. It had ten rooms and cost £2,000. When my father died in 1947 it was sold for £3,750. In 1997 it was up for sale for the price of £119,000 - that gives you an idea of how the value of money has changed since the war. (According to Zoopla, it was sold again in February 2003 for £230,000!).

I met Harold Denis Rogers when I was a schoolgirl, 16 years old, and still at school. We remained friends and became engaged when we were both 21. We were married on 22nd June 1935 at Emmanuel Church and our daughter Jill Denise was born on 9th September 1937. Harold had started his own business as a building contractor and had built several chalets at Flamborough and houses in Bridlington, including the bungalow we lived in - 26 Kingsgate. Life was everything we could have asked for.

There were rumours of war but we did not think it would happen, but Harold joined the Territorial Army (The Green Howards) and went on manoeuvres to learn about becoming a soldier. We were dancing at the Spa Royal Hall one evening when the announcement was made that war had been declared against Germany.

We all had to have our houses completely blacked out so that no light could be seen during the hours of darkness. At first we had plywood shutters made for the windows and doors but these weren't satisfactory, so I had to buy thick black material and line all the curtains. I only had one visit from the Air Raid Warden to tell me I was showing a light.

We didn't have any air raids for a time and life went on as normal except that there were no lights in the streets; it was completely dark. Car lights had to be partly covered so they showed very little light and we had to use torches if we went out at night.

Harold was called up immediately because he and some of our friends were in the territorials. He went in as a Corporal and for a time he was able to live at home but then he was sent to camp. Sometimes he was allowed home for a couple of days. His Army pay at this time was £1.9s a week but after a short while he was promoted to a Sergeant with three stripes and his pay was increased a little. At this time I was in partnership with my sister Gwen; we had a hairdressing salon in Quay Road, opposite Lloyds Hospital. My wage was £2.10s a week and I had little savings, so with my army pay I had very little to live on.

Harold's business premises were on lease and after it was closed, I expected to be relieved of the rent but the owners would not agree so I had to pay over £2.00 a week which made it very hard for me. However in the first of the bombing raids it had a direct hit and was destroyed, so I didn't have to pay any more, but, although it was a big help for me, it was also very sad for several people who were killed at the same time.

When the bombing started it continued and there were not many nights when we did not hear the sound of German planes passing over, very soon we were able to tell the different sounds of the Germans and our own fighter planes. The reason we had so much activity over the town was because the Germans used Flamborough Head as a marker. The planes passed over on their way to industrial towns, but unfortunately for Bridlington any bombs they had left were dropped on the town before the planes left the coast for home, resulting in a lot of air raid warnings and a great deal of damage.

Wherever possible people had air raid shelters. I had the flower bed in my front garden dug out about six feet and it was lined with timber. We had a mattress laid and when the sirens sounded we went into it. We had an electric light but the worst part of it was watching the woodlice and other insects moving about. Unfortunately we had some very wet weather and the shelter flooded so we had to abandon it.

We replaced the garden shelter with a strong metal one in the dining room. This was like a big metal table just large enough to take a mattress and when necessary we slept in there. I was told later that if a bomb had fallen on the house we would have been squashed as the wooden floor would have given way, however we felt safe at the time so it was a good thing.

We had some very bad bombs and on one occasion it was in the summer and I had all the windows open in the sun lounge. I forgot to shut them before Jill went to bed and as I did not want to disturb her I went outside and pushed them to close them. During the night a 1000lb bomb was dropped very close (on the corner of St Johns Avenue and Bessingby Road). All the windows blew open; if they had been locked properly they would all have broken. I was very frightened for Jill and I wondered what I would find when I went into her room. She was sleeping quite safely and hadn't heard a thing. The next morning when I went outside I found all the tiles on the north side of the house had slipped down the roof and some of them had broken. It was a bit too close for comfort.

ASPARAGUS & GOAT CHEESE TART

Ingredients

For the Tart

- 1 sheet of puff pastry, thawed if frozen
- 1 bunch of asparagus, tough ends trimmed
- 4 oz's goat cheese, softened
- 2 tbsps grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tbsps olive oil
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- Salt & pepper to taste

For the Garnish

Fresh herbs (such as chives or parsley), chopped
Lemon zest (optional)

Method

- Preheat your oven to 400°F (200°C).
- In a medium-sized bowl, toss the trimmed asparagus spears with olive oil, minced garlic, salt and pepper until evenly coated.
- Roll out the puff pastry sheet on a lightly floured surface into a rectangle or circle, depending on your preference then transfer the pastry to a baking sheet lined with parchment paper.
- Using a sharp knife, score a border about 1 inch from the edge of the pastry, being careful not to cut all the way through. This will create a border that will puff up during baking. Prick the centre of the pastry inside the border with a fork to prevent it from puffing up too much.
- Spread the softened goat cheese evenly over the centre of the pastry, within the border. Arrange the marinated asparagus spears on top of the goat cheese in a single layer. Sprinkle grated Parmesan cheese over the asparagus.
- Place the assembled tart in the preheated oven and bake for 20-25 minutes or until the pastry is golden brown and puffed up around the edges, and the asparagus is tender.
- Once baked, remove the tart from the oven and let it cool slightly.
- Garnish with chopped fresh herbs and lemon zest, if desired, for a pop of freshness.
- Slice and serve the tart warm or at room temperature as a savoury appetizer or light meal.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

Ingredients

For the Shortcake

2 cups all-purpose flour
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 tbsp baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cold unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
⅔ cup milk
1 tsp vanilla extract

For the Strawberries

1lb fresh strawberries,
hulled & sliced
2-3 tbsp granulated sugar
(adjust to taste)
Whipped cream, for serving

Method

- Preheat your oven to 425°F (220°C). Line a baking sheet with parchment paper or lightly grease it.
- In a large mixing bowl, whisk together the flour, sugar, baking powder and salt.
- Add the cold butter pieces to the dry ingredients. Use a pastry cutter or your fingertips to cut the butter into the flour mixture until it resembles coarse crumbs.
- In a separate small bowl, mix together the milk and vanilla extract. Gradually pour the milk mixture into the flour mixture, stirring until the dough just comes together.
- Turn the dough out onto a lightly floured surface and gently knead it a few times until it forms a smooth ball. Be careful not to overwork the dough.
- Pat the dough out to a thickness of about ¼ inch. Use a round biscuit cutter or glass to cut out circles of dough. Place the dough circles onto the prepared baking sheet, spacing them a couple of inches apart.
- Bake the shortcakes in the preheated oven for 12-15 minutes, or until they are lightly golden brown. Remove from the oven and allow them to cool slightly on a wire rack.
- While the shortcakes are baking, prepare the strawberries. In a mixing bowl, combine the sliced strawberries with the granulated sugar. Stir well to coat the strawberries evenly, then let them sit at room temperature for about 15-20 minutes to macerate and release their juices.
- To serve, split the cooled shortcakes in half horizontally. Place the bottom halves on serving plates and top each with a generous spoonful of the macerated strawberries. Add a dollop of whipped cream, then place the top halves of the shortcakes over the strawberries and cream.
- Garnish with additional strawberries or mint leaves, if desired. Serve immediately and enjoy!

Monthly Gardening Calendar – June Jobs

1. Watering: With the weather warming up, plants will require more frequent watering. Check soil moisture regularly and water deeply as needed, preferably in the early morning or late afternoon to minimise evaporation.
2. Weeding: Keep on top of weeds by regularly pulling them or using mulch to suppress their growth. Weeds can quickly take over if left unchecked.
3. Mulching: Apply a layer of mulch around plants to help retain moisture, suppress weeds and regulate soil temperature. This becomes especially important as temperatures rise in June.
4. Harvesting: Many fruits and vegetables will be ready for harvest in June. Check your garden regularly for ripe produce and harvest promptly to encourage continued production.
5. Pruning: Continue to prune spring-flowering shrubs and trees if needed. Remove any dead or diseased branches and shape plants as desired. Avoid heavy pruning during hot weather to minimize stress on plants.
6. Fertilizing: If you haven't already fertilised your plants, consider doing so in early June. Choose a balanced fertiliser or one specifically formulated for the type of plants you're growing and follow application instructions carefully.
7. Pest and Disease Control: Keep an eye out for pests & diseases in your garden and take appropriate action to control them. This may include hand-picking pests, applying organic sprays or using other integrated pest management techniques.
8. Supporting: As plants continue to grow, provide support as needed to prevent them from flopping over. Install stakes, cages or trellises for tall or vining plants and tie up any floppy stems.
9. Deadheading: Remove spent flowers from plants to encourage continued blooming and prevent seed formation. This can help prolong the flowering season and keep your garden looking tidy.
10. Transplanting: If you have any remaining seedlings or need to move plants to different locations, June is a good time to do so. Water transplants thoroughly after planting to help them establish roots.
11. Garden Cleanup: Remove any debris, dead foliage or spent plants from your garden beds to reduce the risk of pests and diseases. Keeping the garden clean also improves its appearance.
12. Planning and Maintenance: Take some time to assess your garden's performance so far and make plans for any changes or improvements you'd like to implement. Regular maintenance tasks such as sharpening tools and repairing equipment should be addressed.
