Editor's Letter

Dear Everyone,

Welcome to this month's edition of the newsletter. Hasn't it been a long month?

I hope that everyone is feeling ok in these challenging times. We are so lucky to live in this beautiful village, which is brimming over with wonderful people who are willing to help others. I take great comfort from seeing the tractors constantly trundling through the village.

It was a very tentative email which I sent out asking if those who usually deliver the newsletter, would be able to do it this month. It was very humbling to immediately receive emails to say that they are able to do it and what's more, some offering to do extra deliveries. Please see on the next page, the list of all the volunteers who are offering help.

I expect everyone is undertaking lots of extra jobs, which normally there is never time to do...or in fact usually paying someone else to do it! We have been painting the shed and the back garden fence. However I have just furloughed myself from that job, as it is quite "back breaking"!

Despite posters asking people not to visit the village, I see people riding bikes and walking with ruck sacks on their backs. There are so many ways in which we can keep in touch with friends and families. We only learnt about zoom at the beginning of the lockdown. It is a great way to keep in touch....as long as you don't all talk at once. When we first started doing it with our grandchildren and families, I felt really upset that I couldn't just reach out and hug them. I've got used to it now and look forward to these sessions when we play games and do quizzes and puzzles. It has become quite competitive. Our 3 year old grandson pops off to the room next door when he hears our voices, thinking that we have arrived in the house. In the wider family, we have weekly challenges, named the Corona Cup set by Nick's brother. A few weeks ago, it was to bake a cake and decorate it with a message to the NHS. Everyone was moaning that they didn't have flour or icing sugar....of course we have both, thanks to Dianne's wonderful shop. We did a tik tok toilet roll challenge, set up by one of the grandsons and put on WhatsApp. It's all very clever stuff and entertaining too.

Amazingly, I am able to do Pilates, as the teacher does a zoom session twice a week. It is rather strange, lying on the lounge floor, seeing the underside of chairs and tables which need a clean....still plenty of time to solve that small problem!

Nick and I have been involved in a spot of civil disobedience today. We have been in the car to buy plants from Kilham Garage....oh the freedom, as it is the first time we have been in the car for 5 weeks. The temptation was to have a ride round, but we resisted it, as no point in putting ourselves and anyone else in danger.

I am writing stories for the younger grandchildren . Nick illustrates them and then we put them in the post. I have included one of these in this edition, although apologies for the dated story ,as it is about Easter.

I know that many people will be living in really challenging and upsetting circumstances at this time and my heart goes out to them. We give emotional applause to the NHS workers every Thursday which is so richly deserved, but I like to think also of all those other people who are still working and making our lives much easier than it could be; for instance the people who still arrive every week, to empty the bins, the postman and all the delivery drivers. We thank them every time they visit. Our niece is a vet in the Yorkshire Dales and there is no special time for these workers to visit the supermarkets, when they have been up in the night tending to farm animals. They also need a special applause on Thursdays.

In our own village, I would like to thank the following people;

Charlie who deliveries fruit and veg, always with a cheerful remark.

Teresa and Martin who bring bakery goods

Dianne who ensures that the village shop is well stocked

Scott's Butchers who deliver meat

James the milkman, who continues to deliver our milk, despite having a much heavier milk round.

Thanks to the following people who have delivered the newsletters

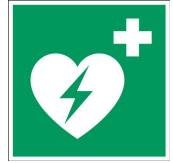

Teresa Blofeld, Martin Tufnell, Becky Staples, Derek Tanner, Jane Crossley, Fiona Turner, Eileen Potter, Melanie Underwood and Chris Gatenby.

Thank you to all those volunteers and also to Shirley Harland who continues to proof read the news letter every month.

Just to finish on a lighter (pardon the pun) note....A few years ago one of our grandsons asked me why I didn't have old hair...he is going to find out in the very near future!

Defibrillators

I have been asked to write down how to use the defibrillators in the village.

1. Dial 999 and ask for a code to open the box
2. Follow the prompts (it talks to you telling you what to do).
3. Do CPR whilst waiting for the ambulance.

Thanks to Derek for those instructions.

I would like to thank all those people who over the years have planted daffodil bulbs round the village on the grass verges etc. On my daily walks round the village, during this difficult isolating time, it has really cheered me and lifted my spirits to see the beautiful patches of colour - such a lovely sight, so thank you one and all.

Message from John Rawlings

Thankyou for all the kind messages which were sent during my stay in York Hospital.

I went home, after finishing my course of chemotherapy treatment. Unfortunately I am now back in York Hospital again, for another few days.

I am feeling in good spirits.

John.

More people who help in the community.

The following people have very kindly offered their help for anyone who is finding difficulties with shopping.

Teresa and Martin	01262 420171
Fiona	01262 421991
Eileen	07889034999

I'm sure there are many more people who are helping around our village, so a big thank you to them.

Eileen Potter's scrub news!

Eileen Ward is helping me by sewing up the headbands and Kathryn Smith is also helping by putting tape in the scrub bags. She then washes and irons them. .. I've got nearly 40 bags ready for Kathryn and Eileen W has 36 headbands to do, but don't know how many she has managed to do yet. I got all the fabric and elastic out for her so all she has to do is sew them .. I say all, but it's quite a job!

I've also managed to achieve zero waste as some of the scraps have gone to be made into hearts for patients and families at York Hospital Trust and the remaining scraps have gone to a care home for the residents to use in collages - Lynne Lyons from Kilham took them and she will be making the hearts too.

Eileen

Well done to all those involved in this wonderful effort. Please contact Eileen, if you would like to be a volunteer.

Looking for grazing for 3 horses

I would like to rent or buy a paddock of about 3 to 5 acres, or a property with some grassland or land which could be put to grass, for grazing for my 3 horses.

I would like somewhere rural and if possible with outbuildings which could be used as stables and for fodder storage. I would be happy to consider a renovation project.

I am in full time employment, trustworthy, reliable and conscientious. I can supply references if required.

Bowls Club News (And further thoughts)

RUDSTON
BOWLS CLUB

Naturally there is not a lot of Bowls news with only one subject dominating life at the moment.

However, preparation of the green has taken place (thank you) and it looks perfect I'm reliably informed. Further grass cutting will be allowed as "permitted exercise" no doubt. It will be a great shame if we are unable to do it justice by playing on it, but strange to think with everything on hold, we wouldn't have been starting until late April in any case.

Among some of the dire predictions and opinions being aired was the idea that "social distancing" should continue for a year or more. That would put paid to Bowls for this season, and a lot else besides. An old song never being far away, Louis Armstrong's "What a Wonderful World" came to mind as he growled: "I see friends shaking hands saying 'How do you do', They're really saying 'I love you'." That may be a bit over the top, but friends will surely greet each other with extra enthusiasm as soon as we are allowed.

Modern technology has shown one of its better sides though, with people being able to see as well as talk to others by phone or computer. Even my modest laptop has the capability I'm told, but I don't know my Zoom from my Podcast. Some fun can be had in looking over a celebrity or M.P's shoulder on these things at what can be seen behind them, particularly if book shelves are in view.

So, just for fun here is what you might see behind me: an untidy sideboard with a model goods train on a plastic suspension bridge at the rear. On the wall behind: a picture of courtroom lawyers lounging in wig & gown captioned "Dock Brief - Nine Pleadings", a Coca Cola mirror, a railway cats cartoon, and a framed copy of a poster advertising Redcar as a holiday destination. The camera would have to be turned to view a bookcase containing three dictionaries (one a 1940 pocket size), ditto a prayer/hymn book from 1956, and a collection of Agatha Christie, H.G. Wells and Dennis Wheatley novels. The prominent title is (appropriately) "You Can't be Too Careful" by Peter Cheyney, and over 40 of his novels lurk behind. (The high-brow stuff is in the cupboard!)

The Bowls connection? Well, among the photos on top is one of a younger me with a trophy, probably 1989, and a former enthusiastic supporter sadly no longer with us, Olive Moorfoot.

Ah, memories. There were plenty of songs about those of course, but it isn't just lost love at the moment, it's lost life. May it soon be resumed.

Exciting news! After 15 months of fundraising and securing grants, as I am writing this, the contractors Pavescape are converting the grass court into an outdoor carpet court. This will be the first one in the East Riding apart from private courts. It will replicate grass in having a low bounce and being kind to the body, but will be playable on all year round and be much lower maintenance. A new gate will also be installed shortly between the all weather court and the new court.

We are very grateful to our major funders - Lissett Wind Farm Community Fund and the YOR4Good Fund and to grants from the Foyle Foundation, the Sandy Dewhirst Charitable Trust, East Riding of Yorkshire Active Creative Fund, N.Wolds Lions and Burton Agnes Renewables. Thanks also to the Parish Council for their support and encouragement throughout.

PLEASE DO NOT play on the carpet court yet as it needs time to bed down. Watch our Facebook page for updates on when it is open and other news. We will have an official opening and celebration post Covid-19 restrictions.

EASTER EGG HUNT....OR NOT!

It was Easter Sunday and as Cornelia, Tobias and Edwin ate their special breakfast of pancakes, they felt a little sad that the Easter Egg Hunt wouldn't be quite the same. They usually go to gran and grandpa's house and meet with their cousins, Henry, Freddie and Louis. Of course it was different this year as no one is going anywhere.

Mummy and Daddy had said that they would be able to hunt for the chocolate eggs in their garden, so they were looking forward to this.

After breakfast they made their way to the garden and started looking for Easter eggs to put in the basket, which Tobias was carrying. Edwin was the first to spot a shiny egg, on top of the football goal, but his short little legs wouldn't allow him to reach. Cornelia who was very kind to her little brother, reached up and handed it to him. She told him to put it in the basket, which Tobias was holding out.

Edwin shook his head and started to peel away the silver paper. Tobias told him that they were all to be collected and then shared out. Well, as you can imagine, Edwin who is not quite three yet, objected to this and carried on undoing the paper, looking forward to eating the chocolate....Oh what was this? Inside the paper was a very hard, a rather dirty round stone with a hole in the middle. The three children looked at each other in amazement...this isn't meant to happen. "Can I have a look?" asked Tobias. It became a rather beautiful stone, shimmering in the sunlight, as he got a tissue out of his pocket and started rubbing it clean.

And suddenly.....A huge rabbit came hopping down the path. "What do you children want", he said rather crossly. "I was just about to have my dinner, with lots of lovely sweeties and chocolate"

Cornelia explained, with a puzzled look on her face, that they hadn't meant to disturb him, but they were just cleaning this beautiful stone when he appeared. "Well what do you want?" he demanded quite rudely.

Tobias took charge at this moment and asked what the rabbit was doing in their garden. He replied that he wasn't in their garden but in there, pointing to the stone...in fact the hole. Edwin told the rude rabbit that he couldn't be in a hole and the other children laughed. The rabbit had a petulant look on his face, as he told them it was magic and he certainly did live in there.

Cornelia explained that they were on a Chocolate Easter Egg Hunt and somehow, the stone was wrapped in shiny paper and looked like an egg.

"Someone must have played a joke on you."

"I expect it was Daddy" said the 3 children. "Let's go into the house and tell him that we have found his joke" The rabbit looked alarmed and said that he would lose his home if anyone else knew about it.

"Look. I will take you to a place where you will find lots and lots of chocolate eggs and other good things to eat and drink." he said.

"Sorry" said Tobias "We can't go with strangers; even rude rabbits"

The rabbit said that he was sorry that he had been rude and cross, introducing himself as Ronny Rabbit. "Come on then," he hurried them, "We haven't got all day, just close your eyes."

Before Edwin, Cornelia and Tobias could object, they were hurtling through a long tunnel on the back of Ronny, who had become a giant rabbit.

At last they came to a stop and all three children gazed around in wonder. There were lots of trees, which all seemed to be made of chocolate. Fireworks were shooting into the sky and sweets were landing on the ground. There were fountains of lemonade and orange squash. Ronny led them through a field of smarties and there in the middle was a little house. This is where I live with my mummy and daddy and one hundred brothers and sisters, Ronny told the children,

Cornelia gasped with surprise, when a large rabbit came up to her and held her hand. "Hello, Cornelia. We have been waiting for you and your brothers, but Ronny was in such a bad mood this morning, we wondered whether he would find you. I'm Ronny's mummy. My name is Ruby Rabbit and I have made something special for you all to eat. Do come into our house".

Ronny scampered ahead of them, waving to lots of little rabbits who were sitting on every chair, shelf and stair.

The children followed Ruby Rabbit into the quaint looking little house. It was much bigger inside and they were shown to an enormous table where all the rabbits came to sit in their places. Ronny's daddy, who it transpired, was called Ronny Senior Rabbit, encouraged the children to help themselves to the amazing feast. Where would they start?

Edwin immediately helped himself to an enormous dollop of jelly and ice-cream and Cornelia started to eat a plateful of small Easter Eggs; unwrapping each one carefully.

Tobias thought that perhaps they should be eating something sensible first and asked for spaghetti bolognaise. Ruby Rabbit clapped her hands in delight at such a sensible person at their table and immediately went to get Tobias a plateful of this dinner. All the rabbits looked in surprise and asked if they could have some. Suddenly they were all pushing and shoving to have a taste of this unusual dish. Tobias thought to himself, "Well if that's what they prefer, they can have my dinner and I will start with this chocolate fudge cake."

The children ate their way through mountains of sweets, chocolate, ice cream and cakes and drank litres of fizzy drinks. They leaned back in their chairs, rubbing their tummies and the rabbits gazed in awe and wonder at the amount of sweet things they had just eaten. "You had better brush your teeth. Otherwise you won't have any teeth left", said Ruby rabbit, scuttling off to get toothbrushes. Ronny rabbit and his brothers and sisters grinned at them, showing very bad , black teeth. "I think we need to go back to the garden when we have brushed our teeth," said Edwin.

The others nodded in agreement, indicating that they felt really full....and a tiny bit sick.

"I expect this is why we only have sweeties on a Saturday," said Cornelia.

Ronny Rabbit lead them out of the house, after they had thanked the family and waved good bye to them. Suddenly they were in the garden, feeling rather dizzy. Ronny Rabbit was nowhere to be seen.

Could they really find all the Easter eggs in the garden when they were so full? Well perhaps they could just manage to do that. They ran around collecting lots of shiny Easter eggs, squealing with delight.

"You have found them all," said Mummy and Daddy, appearing in the garden.

"Now you may eat just one each" The children all shook their heads. "We will probably have one later," they said. "We are going to sit quietly in the garden and look at our books." Mummy and Daddy looked at each other in amazement.

"Well we need to eat all these before they melt" munched Mummy and Daddy, sitting happily in the sunshine.....
