Editor's Piece.

Hello and welcome to this month's Newsletter.

Feast your eyes on All Saints Church Rudston, and see the clock once again telling us the right time. "Time waits for no man " so they say, but we can wait now and see this beautiful medieval church come to life and pass time with us again

Take time to read page 5 about the internet in the future and how we can hopefully have a better broadband service here in Rudston. Its for your benefit to fill in the survey forms on line www.broadband.gov.uk (more details on page 6)

21st July is a date for your diary a Garden Fete at Low Caythorpe will take place opening at 2pm with teas, tombola, and various stalls including cakes, bric a brac, plants, games and a treasure hunt. All ages fancy dress competition, plus others.

Don't miss the "Come Dine with Me " Challenge on the 14th July, see page 19.

If you're going on holiday, have a great one and a happy summer to you all.

RUDSTON WIND TURBINE SURVEY RESULTS

Many thanks to all who completed and returned the survey forms for the Wind Turbine Survey. An analysis of the results plus all the comments received (unattributed) has been delivered with your Newsletter.

The results of the survey will be taken into account by the Parish Council when any further planning applications for wind turbine installations are received for consultation. Please note that the Parish Council are only one consultee in the planning process, so if you hold strong views about any wind turbine installation, you should also make your own views known. Advice on how this can be done can be found on the East Riding of Yorkshire Council website, www.eastriding.gov.uk, or at a Customer Service Centre (there nearest are in Bridlington and Driffield).

Do you want

- Better TV reception and more channels?
- The ability to watch any film you want without leaving your home?
- More jobs in the village?
- Better healthcare provision?
- Children to access their homework more easily?
- Quicker completion of government forms for farms and businesses?

The government has an aim to provide broadband access across the UK by 2015. At the moment, the broadband service in Rudston ranges from just about ok to non-existent. Towns and cities will all have very fast broadband by 2015, and more and more services will be delivered over the internet. This will include entertainment services, such as film on demand (BBC iPlayer, 4OD, Lovefilm, etc.), internet shopping, but also more and more government services. For example, businesses have to make their VAT Returns online now; frequently, school homework requires children to access resources on the internet; to reduce the pressure on health services, more and more NHS services will be delivered over the internet, so people will plug a device into the internet rather than have a nurse call or go to a surgery; Doctors' appointments will soon be done over the internet.

There is government funding available, that East Riding Council can access, that will allow villages like Rudston to get a much better internet service. It will allow us to have better TV reception; it will allow technology based businesses to be run from the village; it will help us with caring for others; it will help children with their schoolwork. However, the council need to prove that there is a demand for broadband, because the government has not allowed sufficient money for a solution for the whole of the country. If we are to benefit, everyone should fill in the survey at <http://broadband.eastriding.gov.uk/> , as that allows the council to prove that there is a need. There is a direct link to the survey on the Rudston website (www.rudston.org.uk) or if you go to an East Riding Customer Service Centre or a library, they will give you access also.

Please fill in the survey today. It is for the benefit of your community. If the council do not get a good enough response, the government will give the money to other areas. We will have lost out. It's your choice!

RUDSTON VILLAGE HALL

DIAMOND JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS

The Rudston Village Hall Committee would like to thank everyone who helped to make the Diamond Jubilee celebrations such a wonderful occasion.

The Ploughman's Lunch was excellent with great food and brilliant service, so well done to all concerned. To the people who provided the food for the street party, thank you, it was delicious and enjoyed by all. The games and quizzes in the afternoon were great fun and thanks must go to Teresa and her helpers for keeping everyone so well entertained.

What a talent we have in Rudston both children and adults gave us a very entertaining evening, congratulations to all who took part, you were excellent. It was lovely to see so many residents with families and friends having such a great time, we hope that we may have a similar event some time in the future.

RUDSTON CINEMA

It is with regret that we will be unable to continue with the Rudston Cinema, unfortunately the cost of hiring the films and equipment has increased. As the previous film shows were not well attended we struggled to make a profit therefore it would be impossible to do so with the increased cost. We would like to thank the people who have been to the film shows in the past and we are sorry we can no longer continue them for you.

Many thanks to all the people who continue to support the Village Hall

Rudston Village Hall Committee

Rudston Women's Institute

The June meeting of the Rudston W I met at 7pm on the 12th June in Rudston Village Hall, 16 members and two guests attended. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs Jenny Herring who welcomed everyone.

The speaker for the evening was Hazel Stephenson who spoke to us about, "How she wrote a Book". The talk was very interesting and amusing. Hazel brought two of her books to sell which were based on Land Girls. She is now writing a third book.

The next meeting is on the 3rd July when Mrs Ruth Pryce is coming to talk to us about "Transporting the Shoe Boxes."

Everyone is welcome to come along to the meeting and anyone who would like to join us on our visit to Castle Howard (details below) Is also most welcome.

Please contact Jenny Herring for further details

The Brain Teaser (Answers on page 18)

Imagine you're alone in a boat with a large hole in the bottom. Sharks are swimming around you on all sides and the boat is sinking fast.

How do you survive?

Up in Smoke

On the radio the other morning was a piece of music I recognised, but couldn't put a name to. When it was revealed by the presenter, it brought back a host of memories.

It was "The Lonely Man Theme" by the Cliff Adams Orchestra. Neither means much nowadays, but that theme music was used in a cinema (and probably T.V.) commercial for cigarettes in the early 1960s. To remind "those of a certain age" and entertain (I hope) others, it showed a man dressed in coat and hat stood on a rainswept city street under an evening street light. Reaching into his pocket he produced a packet of cigarettes. The camera picked out the name on the packet: "Strand". Taking his time, he selected one. Then taking a match and shielding it with his coat collar, lit up, and inhaled luxuriously. Finally, up came the caption: "You're never alone with a Strand" as the memorable music continued for another few moments.

Many years later, I learned with some surprise that actually the advert had not been a success as regards sales. Advertising folk had concluded that the lonely man image wasn't a very good selling point. Also, something which wasn't made clear was a story line that the man had been "stood up" by a girl, but he had some consolation with his fags on a rotten night!

(An explanation of the term "stood up" may be required for younger readers but to do so fully would take up another half page. Briefly, in the days before instant communication, it was when a man and woman had agreed to meet at a certain time and place, and one of them failed to turn up within a reasonable time.)

The company (Imperial Tobacco) thought of re-launching Strand, with a much brighter party theme advertisement, and I remember their representative going into some detail. However, after contacting the company before writing this, I can confirm that the re-launch never happened. The main reason was that this was around 1990, and smoking of any sort was by then being frowned upon. There were restrictions on advertising which wouldn't have helped, and you could say it would probably have been left "stranded" again!

So, no longer are Craven 'A' said to be "kind to your throat", not now can Players "please" or Senior Service "satisfy". No more chuckling at the latest Hamlet advert – "the mild cigar from Benson & Hedges". No more pipe smokers enjoying their "Condor moment". And the Marlboro cowboy has ridden off into the sunset for the last time.

Myself, I have never smoked much. When a hospital doctor follows up his or her "Do you smoke?" question with "Have you ever?", then I usually answer with a smile: "Not since I left school!" It is very nearly true.

A PRAYER FOR THE STRESSED

(Kindly sent in by Pauline Waters)

Grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change things I cannot accept and the wisdom to hide the bodies of those I had to kill because they got on my nerves. Also help me to be careful of the toes I step on today as they may be connected to the feet I have to kiss tomorrow.

Help me to give 100% at work

12% on Monday

23% on Tuesday

40% on Wednesday

20% on Thursday

And 5% on Friday

And help me to remember

When I'm having a bad day and it seems people are winding me up, it takes 42 muscles to frown, 28 to smile and only 4 to extend my arm and smack someone in the mouth !!

CHOCOLATE MACAROONS

1½ oz cocoa powder

3½ tablespoons milk

White of 1 egg

8 oz caster sugar

4 oz ground almonds

vanilla essence

rice paper

blanched almonds, split

to decorate

Set oven to 180c or Mark 4 Warm the milk and dissolve the cocoa powder in it thoroughly. Whisk the egg white stiffly, fold in the sugar and ground almonds, then the cocoa/milk mixture. Lastly add a few drops of vanilla essence. Place rice paper on a baking tray and spoon on equal size heaps of the mixture, according to preference, leaving room for them to spread. Top each cake with a split almond. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes until cooked and lightly browned , then transfer to a wire rack to cool.

From the Vicarage,

Well the nights are now drawing in! Last week saw the longest day, June 21st, the Summer Solstice. It may have been the clouds and rain but I didn't see any dawn visitors at the Monolith like in other years. I did see something else that day though; a giant green Cherry Picker which was hoisting people up the church tower to fix the north face clock so it can one again tell the time.

The Summer Solstice should bring with it some summer and I hope we are in for some hot days and summer fun. In the church calendar things quieten off through late July and August: no schools, no special festivals and holidays help. That said there will be a some summer events like a Garden fête at Low Caythorpe at 2pm Saturday 21st July; Stalls, Tombola and Teas.

One event that's worth mentioning in September is when the Archbishop of York, Dr John Sentamu comes to lead a Confirmation service. Confirmation is that step in your Christian journey where you affirm for yourself the faith into which you were baptised. If you are thinking about confirmation in the Church of England (and what sensible person wouldn't!) give me a call to chat it through. I can promise you a great service and an interesting preparation Towards the end of Summer we should hear about our Heritage Lottery Fund bid. If successful that will kick off and support a whole raft of village projects. In future I hope we will have a separate monthly update in the newsletter on that. Watch this space.

In the meantime we are working to fix the leaky church roofs and gutters (we will foot the bill for that wholly from church funds and a huge thank you to everyone who has contributed and continues to contribute to that) Fixing the church roof is a bit of a cliché I'm afraid but nevertheless it's a feature of maintaining a beautiful mediaeval building. Like many things in life you need to work at it to keep what's good (garden, marriage, fitness and faith to mention just a few!)

So I hope we all have a great summer with plenty of fun and relaxation.

Crosslands Column

As noted last month, results of the Wind Farms questionnaire will not be known until after this has been submitted for print. The reaction to a perfectly reasonable question from a resident, as detailed in the last newsletter must have given food for thought though. I was unable to attend the meeting myself, but have a copy of the statement from the company involved in the Thornholme proposals. So for those who also missed it, here are a couple of their points. The main change is that the number of turbines has been reduced from 12 to 9. They are committed to “minimise the impact on the landscape” and are well aware of the archaeological importance of the area, which they reckon will not be disturbed. Also that Rudston would be unlikely to suffer shadow flicker or interference to T.V. reception. Most revealing (to me at least) was their proud boast that they have a planning success record of 9 out of 10 projects approved against an industry average of 3 out of 10. In other words, how ever long it takes, this plan will very likely get passed! Plus, of course, there will be lots of money available if we all accept it. A government minister has openly said that we, the public, should be “bribed to accept these intrusions on the countryside”. Talking of which, Lissett Wind Farm would be discussing theirs at a meeting (again in Rudston) in June.

The accounts duly went off to the auditor, no-one having applied to view them. That always seems like a sign of confidence, (thankyou!) but there will be chance to see the audited version when they are returned. This is the final year under the present system, with preliminary news of the new one for next year already to hand.

Not much in the way of village news this month, but I should just pass on the latest statistics on the Anti-Social Behaviour front. Their graphs are always difficult to follow, but in the period October, 2011, to March, 2012, there appear to have been 3 warning letters issued in Rudston, but no “calls for service”. Apparently many of their calls concern harassment from neighbours, usually concerning boundary disputes, and luckily Rudston doesn't have too many of those. (If I'm wrong about that, I have details of a helpful website which I could pass on in complete confidence).

Next scheduled parish council meeting should be mid-August, and no further newsletter before then. So, happy holidays to anyone going away.

The county council have summer in mind and anyone with children between ages 4 to 18 and not sure what to do with them, might be interested in a Free Summer Holiday Activity Guide coming your way. If you can't wait, electronic copy available on: www.fish.eastriding.gov.uk/events. Also, there are the usual hot weather warnings about leaving doors and windows open, and especially to have a padlock on garage doors, particularly if they contain electrical equipment.
